

it is in the cycle of all things (i think we know better of such rhythms) the tragedy of this early life's ending is only ours to witness like the turning of the vines' leaves

it is in the cycle of all things (that in our lives is so clearly seen) that we, I hope know for all of us there is another spring because

it is in the cycle of all things

—Craig Kimball